

SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD

By W. W. WHITAKER
When he feels like it.

(Mrs. L. E. (Dorothy) Stevenson, substitute)

The date of the issue of this paper is unusual, the fifth day of the fifth month of 1955. Not likely to have so many of the same numbers on your desk calendar for a long time. Not till June 6, 1966.

Mr. Whitaker said Monday afternoon, "This is the first time since I got sick that I could honestly say I am feeling better."

Mrs. Whitaker, who has been on 24 hour duty for a good while says, "I think I will start putting R. N. after my name."

Andrew says he likes his new part time nursing career all right, but for one thing. He says: "I don't mind lighting Papa's pipe with George Washington in it (ugh) or lighting cigars and cigarettes, but I may draw the line if I have to dip his snuff for him."

Sunday when Daddy's "Brother" Ellett Lawrence of Greenwood was visiting him, Ellett said: "Brother you've been snoring." Daddy said: "I have? Go get Mabel to come listen to me snore."

May is so deft in the nursing skills having helped so much with her sister, Helen, when Helen was sick that Dr. Avent told her, "Come on out to the hospital, May, and get your official nurse's cap."

Winfred Carter, Jr. was the hero of South Street Monday afternoon when he killed a big snake.

Lots of people were sunbathing on the Grenada Dam Beach Sunday. What beach? The water has almost covered it and in fact they were sunbathing on what looked like red clay and gravel.

Let's all co-operate in the forthcoming Paint-Up, Fix-Up, Clean-Up Campaign. It would make Monroe Looney, C. of C. president, so happy. And help the looks of the town. We here at the GCW may sweep down some cobwebs so the place won't look like a "Vampira" stage setting.

Grenadians thrilled to the smartly stepping military men in the Loyalty Day Parade Saturday. Especially clever were the steps executed by the sailors. Norris Carrigan, Bill Morris and Sidney Russell were leaders in the VFW who worked hard to make the parade a success.

For the record, the following units were in the parade: Girl and Boy Scouts, Army Recruiting Service, V. F. W. Color Guard from Jackson, Grenada County Club, VFW Auxiliary and VFW members and officers; the color guard from the National Guard 24th FA. Bn., Scabbard and Blade Drill Team from State College; All Force Recruiters; Red Cross, Chamber of Commerce; GHS Band; Navy Reserve Color Guard from Greenwood 56th A.P. Ban of the Greenville AFB. Attorney William P. Winter, mair speaker, explained that Loyalty Day was evolved to counter act the May Day celebrations in Russia. It is a day set aside for citizens to affirm their loyalty to the United States and its way of life.

It was a grand peerald as the Editor would say.

If an apiary is where bees are kept, then I guess an apiast is one who pays a lot of attention to bees. Then Carolyn's little 3 year old Emily is a true apiast. She loves to catch them. One day she opened a cupboard and exclaimed joyfully over all the fruit jars: "Look, John, at all the bee jars." She is very skillful at catching them and after catching hundreds of them, she has been stung only once. She is truly fearless. No veil and net for our little niece.

The Editor is most grateful to all the nice friends who have helped him, sent him flowers, cards and food and inquired about him. He marvels at "so much kindness."

Mrs. Whitaker thinks her newest grand daughter, Abby Lief Eads, is the prettiest one yet, but then, that's what she says about each of Carolyn's children.

Our heartiest congratulations to Wallace Sherwood for being elected editor of the "Mississippi" at Ole Miss. Wallace has been diligent at developing his writing skills and we

Church Round Up Day Is Sunday At First Baptist

Sunday, May 8 is designated as "Church Round-Up" Day at the First Baptist Church, with an effort to get every member of every family of the church attending Sunday School and worship services.

It will be homecoming for the church's pastor, Dr. John Landrum, who has been in Alaska for the past three weeks, preaching in the Simultaneous Revival Crusade in the First Baptist Church of Juneau.

Dr. Landrum will preach at both services, at 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The choir will render special Mother's Day music, also a special solo by the church's music director, Mr. Herbert Batson.

At the evening service, at 7:30 p. m. the Carol Choir, made up of Junior age boys and girls, will render the special music. Mrs. E. W. Hanna will be at the organ in the absence of Mrs. John G. Hardy.

Baptist Training Association Meeting At First Baptist Monday, May 9

The annual Eliminations Feature will be held at the First Baptist Church on Monday, May 9, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Participants from all Baptist churches in the county will enter in the following features: The Primary Story Telling, the Junior Memory Work Drill, the Intermediate Sword Drill, the Young People's Speaking Tournament, and the Adult Mission Story Telling.

Everyone is invited to come and witness this impressive meeting when all participants will try to do their best. There will also be special music and a surprise feature, announced by Mr. Herbert Batson, the Association's Training Union Director.

All Baptist Churches who have entries are asked to meet at 6:30 in the Chapel of the Church. The judges are also asked to meet at that time. Those conducting the various features will be: Primary Story-Telling, Mrs. C. C. Hubbard; Junior Memory Work, Mrs. Gwin Middleton; Intermediate Sword Drill, Miss Betty Jane Hunt; the Young Peoples' Speaking, Mrs. Leland Whitten; and the Adult Story Telling, Mr. H. L. Barnes.

are so glad his efforts have been successful.

The afternoon that the Editor wanted me to get him a program on television, one of my most shameful secrets was revealed - I didn't know how to operate a TV set. In fact, the only entertainment medium I am familiar with is how to check a book out of a public library.

Dorothy Baltrusch of Billings, Montana wired Wednesday that the best prescription she could think of for the editor was for him to get up and come to Montana and catch some fish.

Number 51 In a Series of —This Series Sponsored by Jiney-Jungle, Grenada.

If this is YOUR farm, you can get, without charge, a nicely mounted picture of the farm, but you must come to the Grenada County Weekly and identify it.

While you are in the GCW office, we hope to interview you and get a story, for subsequent publication, about this property and about your family.

If you need other photographs of the above, either the size shown, or larger, or on postal cards, the GCW can, and will arrange for them. A reasonable charge, of course, will be made for these reproductions. Let us show you samples.

Holcomb Negro School Dedicated Friday

The Holcomb Elementary School for Negroes was dedicated in a blaze of glory Friday afternoon with several outstanding educators present.

The six room brick building for children through the eighth grade is one of the nicest in the state.

Dr. P. H. Eason of Jackson, director of Negro education in Mississippi was the principal speaker.

The program was as follows: Prelude, Alphalean Jenkins; song, "America" by the audience; dedicatory prayer, Rev. J. C. Q. James; solo, "Bless This House" by L. M. Moore; introductory remarks by John E. Gray Jr., County Supt. of Education;

Presentation of building to the community by the architect; acceptance of building by the County School Board and presentation to the Negro people; group selection: Grenada High School trio; introduction of speakers by John Gray and recognition of members of Board of Supervisors; address by Dr. Eason; introduction of faculty; benediction, Mr. W. B. Buchanan and postlude by Alphalean Jenkins.

Teachers are: Ernest Keys, Velma Bland, Betty R. Sterne, Willie D. Fields, Norma L. Wright and Rebecca Reed. Cynthia Dubard Places Third In Big Spelling "Bee"

If Cynthia Dubard, Grenada County spelling bee champion, could have just spelled "cuneiform" correctly, she would probably have won the Mid-South bee. But she did all right, she came in third, the best showing a Grenada student has ever made in Memphis at the Mid-South Bee.

Cynthia is the 8th grade pupil of Mrs. Marshall Perry and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dubard of Dubard. Brains run in the family. Her big sister, Alma, is valedictorian of the 1955 Senior Class at GHS.

Gartin Seeks Re-Election As Lieutenant Governor

In a spirit of humility and a deep sense of appreciation to the people of Mississippi for their past support, I announce my candidacy for re-election as Lieutenant Governor. During the past four years, I have been proud to serve the people of Mississippi and to have supported legislation to aid in the development of our entire State. As a member of the Legal Education Advisory Committee, I am thoroughly familiar with our fight to maintain segregation and I shall continue this fight with a positive conviction that we can and that we will maintain segregation in every phase of our life. Experience gained in serving as Lieutenant Governor, President of the Senate and as Acting Governor equips me to render more valuable service to the people of Mississippi, during another term as Lieutenant Governor.

During the coming months it will be my privilege to discuss the issues facing us and to talk personally with citizens throughout the State, as I engage in an aggressive campaign. I earnestly ask careful consideration and examination of my public record and private life, believing that both will meet the test required of a faithful public servant. I am grateful to the people of Mississippi for their manifestation of confidence in me in electing me Lieutenant Governor. I have tried to be of service to the citizens of our State and I solicit your continued confidence and active support as I ask for an endorsement term.

Business Men, Farmers Talk Over Needs At Banquet

A group of Grenada business men, sat down to supper with their invited friends and discussed how they could help each other Tuesday night at the City Hall.

In the course of the panel discussion and supper sponsored by the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce, two needs of the farmers became evident. They are improved cattle and a grain elevator and feed mill.

Warren Sucoe, chairman of the Agriculture Committee; Clayton Carpenter, moderator of the panel; and William F. Winter, master of ceremonies took leading parts in the affair. Also on the panel with Mr. Carpenter were: Charles Perry, C. O. Sennett, E. L. Boteler, Jr., Dot Hayden, Maurice Moore, Glen See, Junius Townes and John Liles.

Tommy Darras of the Central Cafeteria served a steak supper to 125 men.

on "obedience". It's enough to make any speller go tongue tied for life. For placing third, Cynthia won a Zenith portable trans-oceanic radio. Mr. and Mrs. Dubard and George Kent, runner-up in the local bee, accompanied the champ to Memphis. She also received a $25 Savings Bond for being county winner.

Demons of Disease

It has taken man many centuries to realize that disease has "natural" causes and that a cure takes place in a "natural" way. For many years, all internal disease was considered to be the revengeful work of gods or demons.
Magic and exorcism were therefore used to rid the body of the offending demon.

Today, however,
diagnosis and treatment of disease have a sound, scientific basis. Your physician is Financing Religion

Lesson for May 8, 1955

SOME people don't like to hear money mentioned in church. Money and religion, they say, are two different things. Religion is spiritual and money is material and one ought not to be mixed up with the other. This kind of reasoning is partly right, but only partly. It is quite true that faith, hope and love, which are the heart of religion, cannot be paid for. No church can sell you a dollar's worth of faith. The grace of God is not on sale, at any price. It is also true that financing a church, even when well and handsomely done, won't by itself keep religion from dying. The writer knew a church that had been endowed. They never mentioned money in that church; they never took up an offering. No one gave anything, no one had to. There was enough money in the endowment to pay the minister's salary, keep up the building and grounds, and hire a small choir.

Dr. Foreman

Why Giving Is Good for People

But what happened? That church ran down. The preacher preached, the choir sang, the janitor dusted. But nobody came. There were mornings when literally not one soul was there outside parson and choir, and one suspected they would not have been there if it had not been for the pay check. (How would you like to preach or sing to an empty church?) People are quite mistaken when they think it would be better if money were never mentioned in church, if people were never asked to give. A church where that happens just runs down. Giving is good for people—not just any kind of giving, not throwing your money to the nearest beggars, but the kind of giving the church invites and challenges. You never give to the church, not to a good church; you give through the church, in Christ's name and for purposes which he surely approves. Giving is good for people because money is life—concentrated, portable life-energy. The money you have earned represents work you have done, thoughts you have had, energy you have spent. Now the money is in your hand, or in the bank. The thought, the work, the energy is gone, the time is gone; but the money has come back. It is your life. Now a church that does not challenge us to put our lives into it will in the long run interest no one. Where treasure goes, the heart follows, as Jesus pointed out. Giving is good for people because not-giving makes them sluggish and selfish.

Where Does the Money Go?

Nobody particularly likes to give in the dark. It doesn't do a lot of good to shout at people, Be generous!—For what? is a fair question. So the wise church will see to it that all its people know where the money goes after it disappears up front somewhere on Sunday mornings. Our Scripture reading tells of a successful financial campaign carried on by King Josiah. There were points in his scheme that were then and are now sound principles for giving through the church. One is that the people could see exactly why their money was needed. There had been an unsuccessful attempt to collect money for the same purpose, namely repairing the Temple; but the collectors had been told to go out and get the money in other cities. That method did not work; one reason was that the collectors were in no rush, and the other was that people living at a distance had no idea of the need for repairs on the Temple. When they came up to Jerusalem, they could see very well that the shrine was about to fall down.

Giving Is a Form of Worship

Another noteworthy feature of King Josiah's success in money-raising was that he got the money from the people who came to worship at the Temple. The first attempt was to approach the citizens at large; this failed. The second was to give the worshippers a chance to give; and they gave, literally till the money-chest ran over. The church can make a strong appeal to those who are dedicated to the Kingdom of Love, —God-conscious folk; but to outsiders, still living by the law of Greed and Grab, nothing the church does or tries to do will seem worth a dime.

School Construction To Be Viewed From Standpoint of Jobs Involved

Building tomorrow's schools today is the theme of a conference on school construction to be held May 2-3 at the University of Mississippi Center for Continuation Study.

Looking ahead to construction that will take place in Mississippi's educational program the sponsoring organizations have planned to bring together representatives from every facet of school construction and maintenance.

Keynoting the conference with an address titled "Let's Build Tomorrow's Schools Today", will be Mr. Walter D. Cocking, editor of THE SCHOOL EXECUTIVE and THE AMERICAN SCHOOL AND UNIVERSITY.

Mr. Cocking has been associated with school building construction since 1934. He was chief specialist in school administration for President Roosevelt's Advisory Committee on Education, and is now consultant to five architectural firms on school construction problems.

Discussing the "Impact of Recent Legislation of School Building Programs" will be Mr. James T. Kendall, Jackson attorney, and Assistant State Attorney General Dugas Shands who helped write the school legislation which makes the conference imperative.

"Trends in School Building Design" will be discussed the second day of the conference by Mr. William W. Caudill, senior partner, Caudill, Rowlett, Scott and associates.

Mr. Caudill is the author of three books on architectural problems in school construction. Mr. N. W. Overstreet, Jackson architect, will serve as panel member on a panel discussion of "How the Program is Realized in the Final Building".

"Commission Regulations Relative to Compliance" will be discussed by Mr. Talley D. Riddell, chairman of the Mississippi Educational Finance commission.

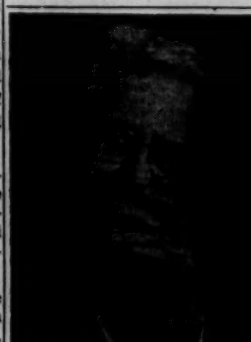

Sponsors of the conference are: the Mississippi Education association, Mississippi Chapter, American Institute of Architects, Mississippi Association of School Administrators, Mississippi State Department of Education, and Associated Building Contractors of Mississippi.

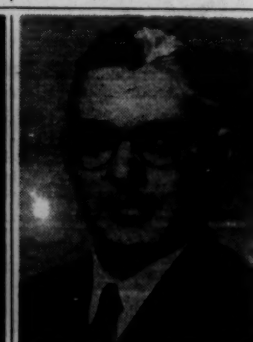

Mr. Walter D. Cocking, editor of THE SCHOOL EXECUTIVE will draw on 21 years of school construction experience in setting the keynote for the school construction conference.

Mr. William W. Caudill, architect has designed over 75 schools, some of which have received national awards. He is the author of three books on school construction.

Mr. N. W. Overstreet, Jackson architect, will serve on a panel discussion of "How the Program is Realized in the Final Building".

Mr. Talley Riddell, chairman of the State Educational Finance Commission will speak to the conference on his commission's part in, and regulation of, the school building program.

CRAG Herbicide-1 kills crabgrass seeds as they begin to sprout. It can be easily applied with a sprinkling can or a garden hose sprayer.

New Crabgrass Seed Killer, A Boon to Lawn Owners

This year, if the grass is thicker in the other fellow's lawn, it's probably because he's using CRAG Herbicide-1, the new crabgrass seed killer.

Unlike the crabgrass killers that kill mature crabgrass, CRAG Herbicide-1 concentrates its killing power on the crabgrass seeds as they begin to sprout. This fact is an important advantage for you lawn owners. Now for the first time, you can kill the sprouting crabgrass seeds early in the spring, rather than waiting for the crabgrass to mature before issuing the death blow.

Mature crabgrass can be killed, but often the resulting bare patches and the risk of possible injury to the lawn grasses are not worth the effort. This risk is eliminated with CRAG Herbicide-1, because it kills the crabgrass in the seedling stage without harming established lawn grasses. Your lawn will be thicker and more beautiful without competition from crabgrass.

There's no problem in applying CRAG Herbicide-1. It dissolves easily in water and can be put on with a garden hose sprayer, or a sprinkling can. Application of CRAG Herbicide-1 should begin early in the spring when the crabgrass seeds are starting to sprout (April 15 to May 15, depending on your area). Applications should then be continued at monthly intervals through early August.

In addition to its crabgrass use, CRAG Herbicide-1 prevents weeds in more than 50 different varieties of plants in your garden. It kills weed seeds before they have a chance to grow, yet it has no effect on these plants, even if it gets on their leaves.

The one-pound home garden package of CRAG Herbicide-1, now available in garden supply stores, will treat 6,000 sq. ft. of lawn for crabgrass or 12,000 sq. ft. of garden when used to prevent other types of weeds.

A free pamphlet is available which covers in more detail the uses, as well as the dates and methods of application of CRAG Herbicide-1, on crabgrass and other type weeds. Send requests to: Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company, a Division of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation, 30 East 42nd Street, New York 17, New York. Ask for Form 8651.

Cadillac

Class of 1985!

It would take a long time to determine who won the bet—but we'd be willing to wager that the lad in the picture winds up owning a Cadillac!

We feel so confident because he is starting out like a typical Cadillac owner.

Preponderately, Cadillac owners are self-made men. They just emerge—from everywhere.

But they are usually marked, quite early in life, by industry and thrift and the will to succeed.

That's why we say that this wonderful lad—out earning money to make himself self-sufficient—is very likely to wind up owning a Cadillac. Looking at him, as he labors, we estimate the class of 1985!

We hope we are around to deliver his car when the great day arrives—for it's a great thrill to hand out the keys when an owner comes in for his first Cadillac.

It's worth a lot to see the smile on his face and the gleam in his eye as he settles himself behind the wheel —studies the instrument panel to make sure of the controls—and floats away in the direction of home and a family celebration.

Of course, for the lad in the picture, the thrill of that first Cadillac is still a great many years away.

But how about you? Is the time coming close for your dream of a Cadillac to come to a happy ending? If so, we'd be happy—indeed—to see you.

This is a wonderful year for owning a new Cadillac—whether it's your first or your fifth or your tenth. Never before has Cadillac performance been so marvelous—its beauty so arresting—its comfort and handling ease so delightful. It is more decisively than ever—the Standard of the World!

Why not come in today—and check this for yourself? We'll give you the keys and a car—for the most revealing hour you ever spent in a motor car.

What Water and Soil Conservation Means To Me and My Family

I was born and reared on a hill farm. I built playhouses in the many "gullies" on and surrounding our farm, went with my father on the truck to haul water for drinking washing and even for the livestock since water was always scarce in the hills. Most of our food was raised on this farm if we had had a good season. My mother had pretty flowers in the yard if it rained enough. I remember one spring day my mother and I were walking. There were lots of wild flowers, and the trees were budding. I told Mom God was sure good to us giving us all of these pretty things, and she said, "Yes, we could not live without soil and water."

Years later I married, and after the war we could think about buying a home. Since he was a farm boy we decided to farm. We couldn't find any flat land we could afford, and this hill farm next to my dad's place was for sale, but all of a sudden I was remembering all of these big gullies I played in as a kid and also remembered how water had to be hauled for the livestock and even for drinking. I discussed this with my husband and he said he had thought of that but there were ways to conserve soil and water if we found out how to do it.

The first year after we bought our place we started in on the largest problems, like stopping the large gullies from taking more land. First we built brush dams across them, then set pine saplings in the bottom and around the edges. This not only keeps them from washing but fills them too. For the smaller ones we also built brush dams.

Cropland came next since our income comes from this. Not only food but money crops. A soil test proved the land needed slag and lime and in the Fall we applied this. Then we found to keep it from washing away terracing and contour ditches were necessary. In the Fall my husband plants soil building and soil holding crops such as rye grass, winter peas and vetch.

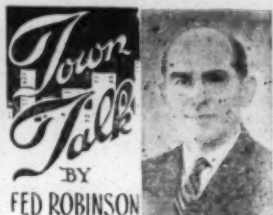

We had plenty of land for cattle but water was a problem, so with the help of this water shed program we have built some ponds. They staked off a large pond and when it is finished we will have a place to fish and swim. Our dream over the years has been to have enough water for an indoor bathroom, but since we were so high in the hills we felt that we could never afford to dig that deep a well. We kept saving for this however, and our dream came true a while back. Now we have plenty water for the livestock and all we can use for home and flowers.

My husband and I both like to hunt, therefore we believe in providing food, cover and protection for wildlife. Being hunters we join the forestry program in preventing wood fires. Also trees are necessary to farmers. They provide a money crop and timber for building various things. Like everything else they should be cared for. My husband, besides preventing wood fires, cuts out undesirable trees and thins and transplants what is necessary.

We have come a long ways since my childhood, but soil and water conservation is our very life and the life of the world. God gave us this soil and water and with his help we'll keep on conserving our heritage.

Mrs. Ruby Mims, Oxberry Home Demonstration Club.

Thank you! Thank you, friends in Grenada, Mississippi for all your kindness and courtesies during our visit with you recently.

There are many people so fortunate in having "an old home place" where they can visit and revisit time after time. Some lucky ones have opportunity to go back to the very house where they were born and visit members of their family still living there. That must be a wonderful experience. But, neither Ada, nor I have any parents living, nor is there any place we can truthfully call "our old home place" for it has been so many years since our parents maintained a home for their brood that we can hardly remember when or where it once existed. So, the nearest thing to "an old home place" for us are the cities and town where we have lived - and those number about 10 - and where we have acquired a few lasting friends. Grenada, Mississippi is not only one of those places, but it is far and away our first choice. We are indebted to these for very special kindness: J. D. and Viola Juinn, Grover and Markolita Long, Dr. Bob and Minnie Lee Clanton, Walter Hill and Frances Felts, Thelma Zoder and staff at Monte Cristo, Strick and Lucy Stricklin, Bob and Hazel Miller, J. M. and Minnie Webb, Al and Lois Gully, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ray Sr., Greer Bays, Woody Hanna, Patsy Rogers, . . . you make it difficult to leave you, you make it impossible to forget you.

Now a little story or two . . . for a moment of blessing upon you.

"Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" . . . Baptist Missionary, Miss Ann Wollerman told about a native Brazilian girl who had become a Believer and had arranged with a Brazilian minister to be baptised. Her husband, exercising a Brazilian husband's prerogative, ordered her to forget about her new found way of life and threatened to kill her and the preacher if she was baptised. The preacher called to talk it over and they both agreed that it was their duty to go ahead with the baptism no matter what might be the consequences, and so they did. The girl walked out of the water, dried her hands and picked up her New Testament which she clutched to her breast and walked slowly toward her home to meet the irate husband. And her is what he said as she entered the thatched-roofed abode setting on a hillside a little way from the trail. "A Brazilian woman never disobeys her husband, and I know you have found a new kind of course by reading that little book, and I'd like for you to read it for me."

Well, you readers will remember the story we told about the 166 little girls attending a missionary's school in China when the heathen military people raided the place and thinking to have some fun out of the children the commander ordered the cross taken down from atop the building and asked each child to march out and walk on the cross if they chose to live, otherwise they would be shot.

7 little girls in their fright stepped out upon the cross and marched away safely, but the 9th one got up from her knees after prayer and walked proudly and carefully around the cross because she respected that symbol, and she was immediately riddled with bullets but following her were 92 more little girls who probably had memorized Matthew 5:10, and there and then they exchanged their earthly lives for a whole new kingdom in Heaven and who will say they did it foolishly?

Glad to see Mr. Roy Doak is back home and walking around.

You'll feel like a pilot without leaving the ground

Just wait till you switch the pitch of Buick's new Dynaflow*!

HOW would you like to take the wheel of a high-powered Buick and feel an experience you never felt before in any earth-bound vehicle?

How would you like to do—just by pressing down the gas pedal—what a pilot does when he's ready for take-off?

And how would you like to drive with the happy thought that you're getting plenty of miles per gallon in normal cruising—and the electrifying action of the world's first airplane-principled transmission when you need it for split-second getaway response?

It's all for you when you say the word and slip into the driver's seat of a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

Not only do you take command of record-high Buick V8 power—and the most envied ride in the industry—and the brawn and heft and luxury of a truly solid automobile.

You also call the turn on twenty propeller-like blades deep inside a wondrous new Dynaflow that's patterned after the principle of the modern plane's variable pitch propeller.

You hold these blades in their high-economy angle when you press the pedal in the normal way—and you get a lot more miles from a tankful of gas.

You switch the pitch of these blades to take-off position when you press the pedal way down—and you get spectacular action instantly.

Don't take our word alone that this is thrilling beyond all previous experience.

Talk to anyone who's tried it. Or, better yet, come try it yourself. That way you can learn firsthand why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs. Drop in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Dishwashers

Thirty million women might disagree about many phases of housework, but we all meet on one common plane two or three times a day - we don't like dishwashing. Well, who can blame us? It's dirty work, unimaginative and tiring, but until some genius invents a disappearing dish or glasses that one eats after using, somebody's going to have to do the messy things and you know it's going to be you! In fact, your life sentence is about 1/2 ton of dirty dishes a month! That's a lot of dishes, not to mention the dishpan hands.

But why not give up this tiresome monotonous burden forever? Let the Automatic Electric Dishwasher take over the complete job of washing and drying dishes. You'll have at least an extra hour each day. Just think - an extra hour to sit back and relax. Mr. Homemaker, here's your way out of helping with the dishes. The Automatic Electric Dishwasher will do the family dishes for about 3c extra each day. It certainly is worth that small cost to have your wife free to share after-dinner hours with you.

A dishwasher does a lot more for you than just getting those dishes over with efficiently. Not only does it eliminate unpleasant drudgery and save your hands, it uses hotter water than your hands can stand, so the dishes are really sterilized. Did you know that dish towels actually help spread germs? The entire story of what an Automatic Electric Dishwasher will do doesn't end with washing dishes and pots and pans. It is perfectly safe for fine china and crystal and when spring house-cleaning rolls around such things as candleabra and even chandeliers can be washed. Homemakers who do home food preservation have found that the dishwasher is an invaluable helper in washing jars, jelly glasses and freezer containers. Farm women find that awkward cream separators are efficiently washed in the dishwasher.

The dishwasher is an electric servant that takes over one of the most monotonous and time-consuming jobs in the home. It ends dishwashing drudgery with a simple turn of the knob. What a joy to have the job of washing, drying and storing dishes done for you by the Automatic Electric Dishwasher. Why not contact your Mississippi Power and Light Co. Home Economist today for an appointment to help you decide which dishwasher best suits your needs. She has information on all kinds and brands of dishwashers and can give you expert assistance.
